Hi Jeffrey,

Hope you're doing well.

Since 1979, Ibiza has been one of my preferred locations. As life evolves though, I now feel more called by the Pacific, where I have made a significant investment in an island named Nukutepipi. You know me: like any other projects I have worked on with my team, we put nothing less than 100% of our heart and energy to turn it into the magical and astonishing destination we have dreamt of. For sure, this is where I'll be heading for the next decades and for sure, this will be put on the rental market! Works completion and Web site are expected at the end of 2018, beginning of 2019, so I'll forward you greater details soon. In the meantime, here is a little teaser: <http://www.sunsetluxuryvillas.com/#Page-6>

Passing more time there necessarily implies passing less time elsewhere... Thus, after some consideration, decision was made to put Can Soleil and Can Luna on the market. Since a lot of love and time have been placed in these properties, obviously I would want them to remain in the hands of people who would continue to take good care of them. So if you have any interest or know anybody who might look into purchasing a villa in Ibiza, here are the properties' Web sites:

- Can Soleil: <http://www.sunsetluxuryvillas.com/ibiza/>
- Can Luna: <http://www.sunsetluxuryvillas.com/can-luna/>

Please feel free to contact me should you have any questions.

Thanks,

Guy
