

To: G Max[REDACTED]
From: Tom Pritzker
Sent: Tue 12/25/2001 3:42:41 PM
Subject: Re:

"Ghislaine is a stunning brunette in her early 40's (sic)", an eyewitness tells GLOBE. "Clinton was sitting next to her, playing Prince Charming, offering to pour her wine and laughing heartily at everthing she said".

[The article does not indicate that you asked the President of the United States if he had ever screwed a chicken, but that can be corrected with a letter to the ed.]

[The article then gives a short para saying Saffron arrived. It then goes on...]

"He asked for another chair and sat there with a beautiful woman on each side," the source reveals. "He pulled his chair back slightly so he could look at them both, then gently laid an arm on the back of both their chairs". It was a subtle and sexy gesture.