While I'm gone next week I will have an out of office email reply on my Outlook. In the Out of Office email I will state to please contact [REDACTED] or [REDACTED] and provide their email addresses.

Unfortunately [REDACTED] is not a solution for the time being. I think [REDACTED] will be travelling with you. [REDACTED] can answer phones Thursday (you are leaving Thurs. evening) then I really think having the phones forwarded to the island for them to take messages and email you works well. Unless you want me to have them forwarded to [REDACTED]
